Programs making curricular changes as a result of learning assessment

■ YES ■ NO ■ UNCLEAR

As indicated by faculty committee evaluation during most recent program review.

- EXAMPLES:
- As a result of Arctic & Northern Studies MA assessment and analysis the following program changes are underway:
 - 1) increased distance delivery;
 - 2) Implementation of a writing workshop class;
 - 3) improved analysis of all courses in the MA;
 - 4) Implementation of Historiography;
 - 5) multiple efforts at shortening the time for completion through advising and curricular change.
 - Counseling M.Ed used outcomes assessment evidence to institute use of the national Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination (CPCPE) instead of a department prepared comprehensive examination
 - The Biological Sciences BA program assessed student performance on the ETS Proficiency Profile Major Field Test in Biology and discovered a strong relationship between student performance and the type of instructor teaching the course. The program is trying to have more courses taught by full time faculty employees.
